

Kara gave permission to edit this as needed/if needed

Kara Wilkins is the principal of K.Wilkins Consulting Group and a solutions-focused community engagement strategist. With over two decades of experience working in the nonprofit and philanthropic sectors, she has honed her skills in communications, outreach, public policy, development, and advocacy/government relations. Kara also serves as program director for the Arkansas Black Philanthropy Collaborative. In her role, she works alongside Black philanthropic leaders to design solutions for social change in a meaningful way. This includes providing strategic advising to funders and technical assistance to Black-led and Black serving organizations. Kara is a graduate of Leadership Greater Little Rock Class XXXIV and serves on various boards. A native of Little Rock, she attended Hendrix College and was named one of Arkansas' 250 Most Influential Leaders and a 2023 Woman to Watch.