

Alejandro Avilés Rodríguez Bio

Alejandro is part of the leadership team at Ginnie Mae, a government corporation with a $2.6 trillion mortgage-backed securities portfolio that attracts global capital into the housing finance system to support homeownership for veterans and millions of homeowners throughout the country. He previously worked at Hispanics in Philanthropy to strengthen Latino leadership, influence and equity by leveraging philanthropic resources across the Americas.

His career in organizing, civic engagement, grant making, and public service began over two decades ago in local government focused on serving ALICE families in Arkansas. He moved to our nation's capital to work in the Obama Administration and served as senior advisor for two Cabinet Secretaries. During the Trump Administration, he worked on intersectional community building in the LGBTQ movement and political empowerment at the nation's largest Latino civil rights and advocacy organization.

Alejandro is extremely proud to support the mission of the Winthrop Rockefeller Foundation. In his spare time, he pursues his passions for filmmaking, creating art, biking, and helping institutions make progress on equity. He lives in Washington D.C. with his husband and his dog, Doña Boo Radley.